Teaching Method:

discussion, lecture

Procedure:

Initiation*:*

Teacher shows rules chart and asks students why do we have rules in classroom? Students respond according to their prior Knowledge. If we don't have rules in our class then there will be a lot of disturbance through out the lessons. Students will fight, come late to class etc. Just like that our country also has some rules that we as a good citizen have to follow.

Development:

Constitution = "Rules Book of Our Country"

no one can go against the constitution even PM follows it. Definition of Constitution: It is a basic and fundamental law of a state.

There are 4 functions of a constitution that we will discuss today:

1. Division of power: It tells provinces their work. Federal has to look after whole Pakistan jobs whereas provinces look after theirs.
2. Rules for Politics: It describes how and for what time period will a PM stay. e.g: Age 18 = you can vote.
3. Rights + Duties e.g: Article 25-A: Right to education.
4. Relation b/w people and government: If rights are broken or not given you can complain to court.

Teacher divides students into groups for the purpose of discussion on Examples of these functions.four groups are made and each group is given a particular function of the constitution.one leader is assigned to each group who will represent the topic.each group will have to explain the function in their own words with related examples.

Recap:

The teacher repeats definition and functions of constitution.
